

REWASTE is an app that helps implementing zero-waste philosophy in everyday life for people around the world.

Mission

We want people to learn and gradually change their way of thinking about consumption and waste.

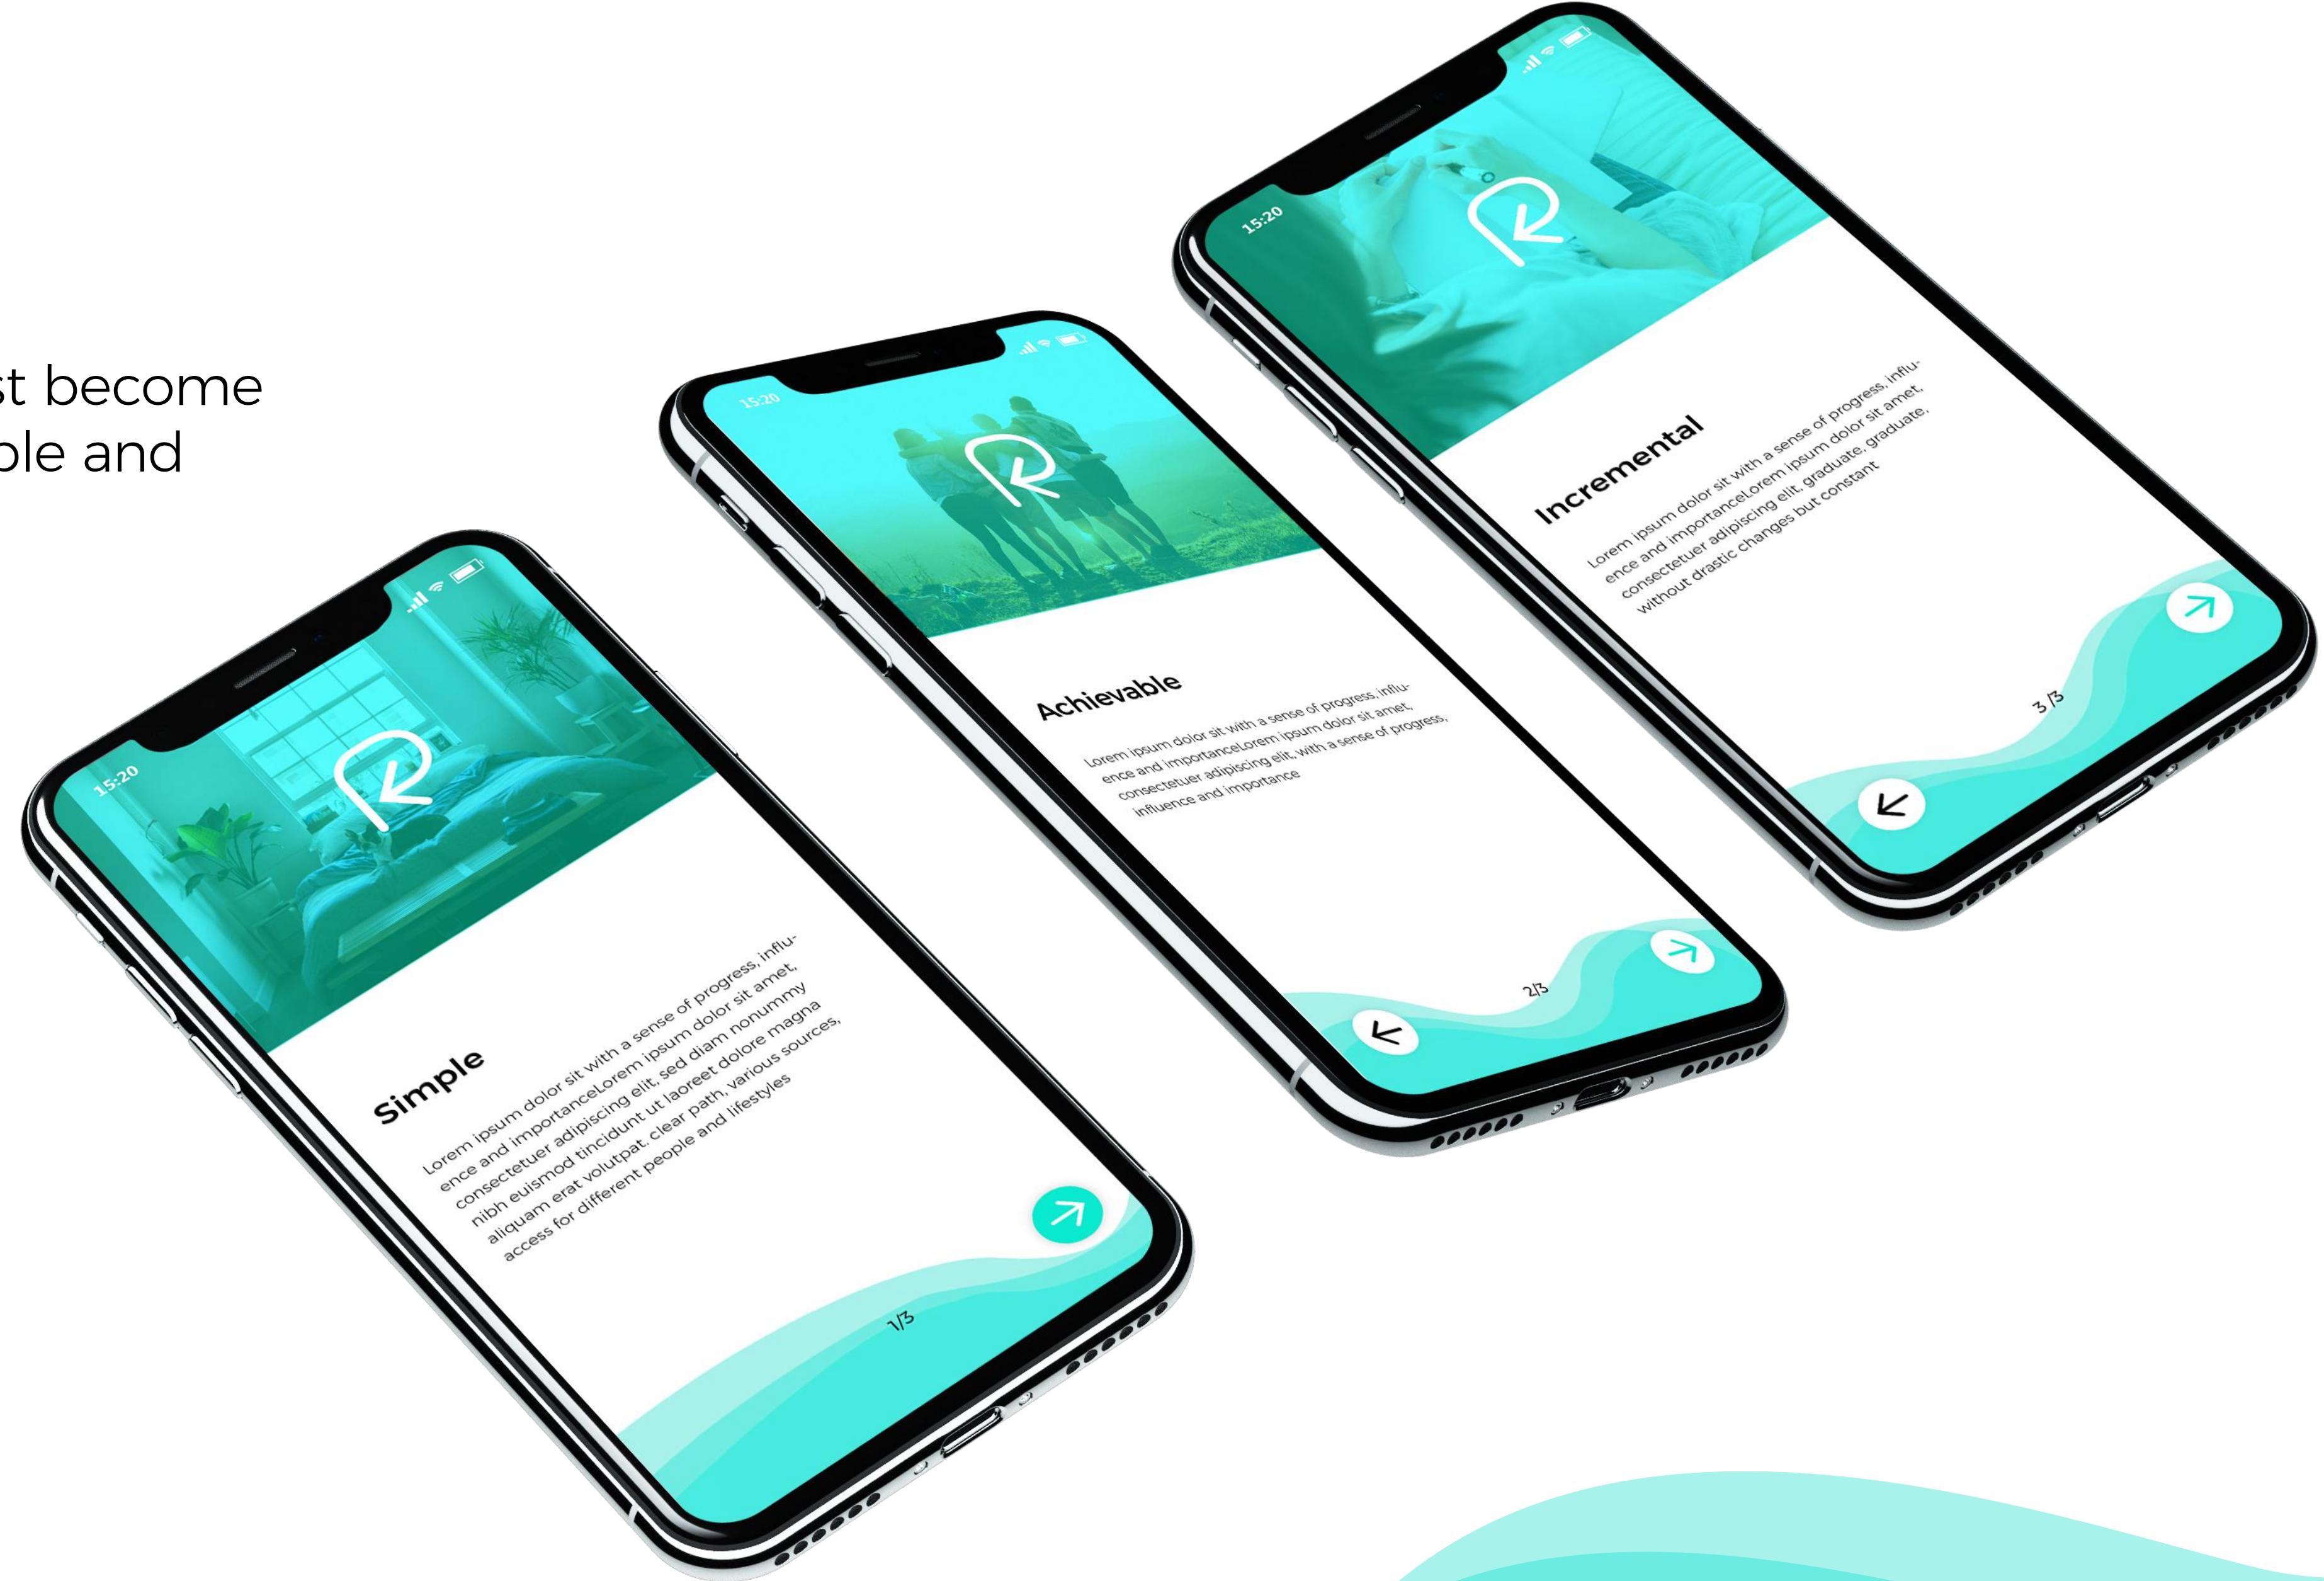

The app is meant to enforce good patterns of behaviour and turn them into stable lifestyle.

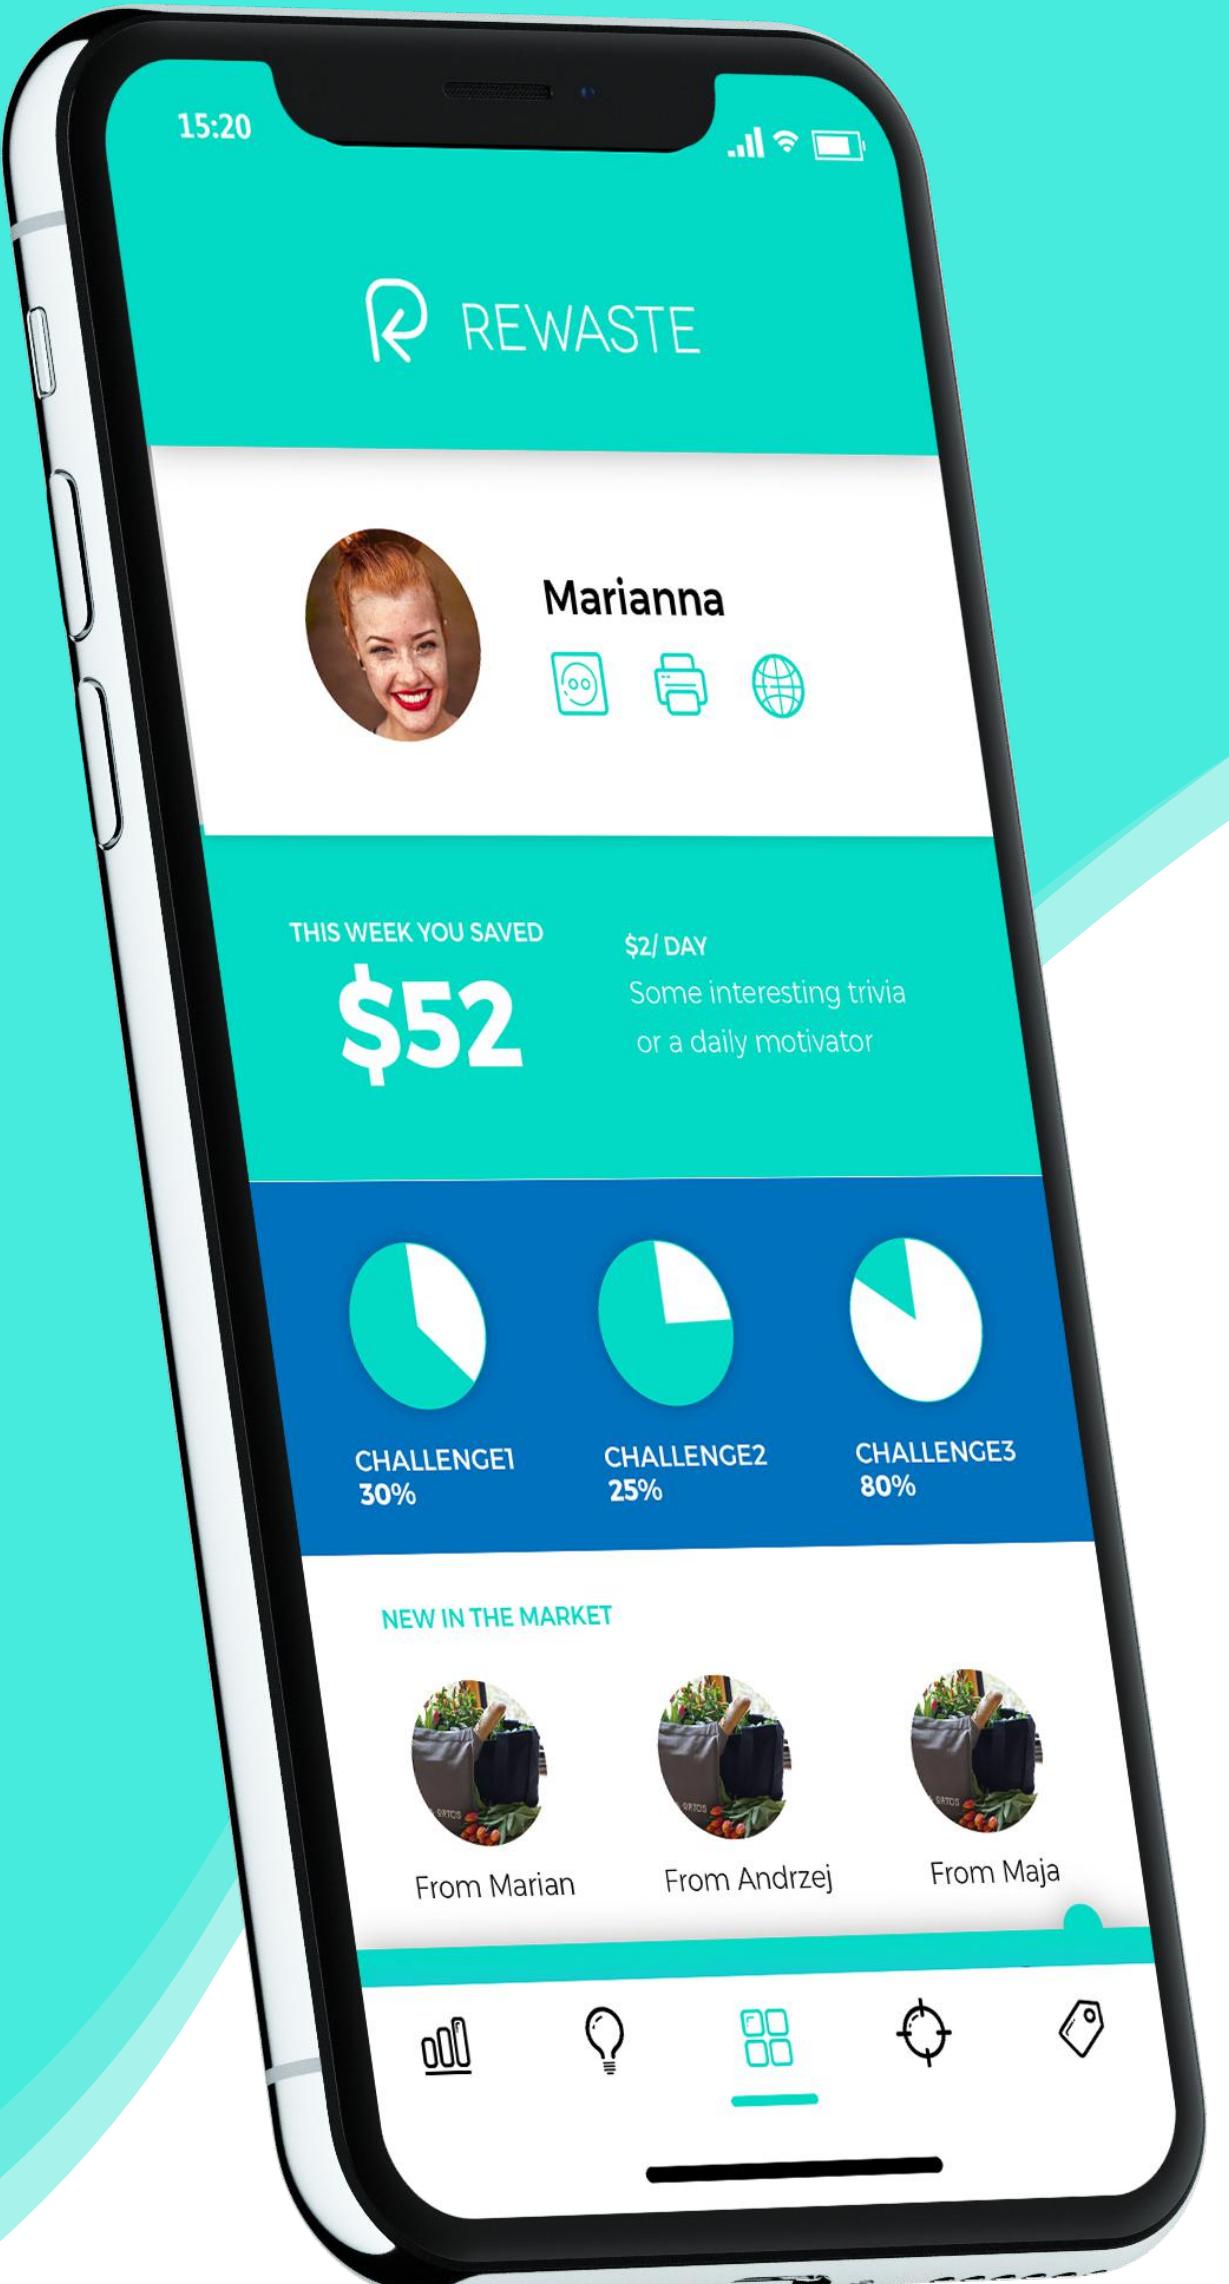

Big Idea

Zero waste must become simple, achievable and incremental.

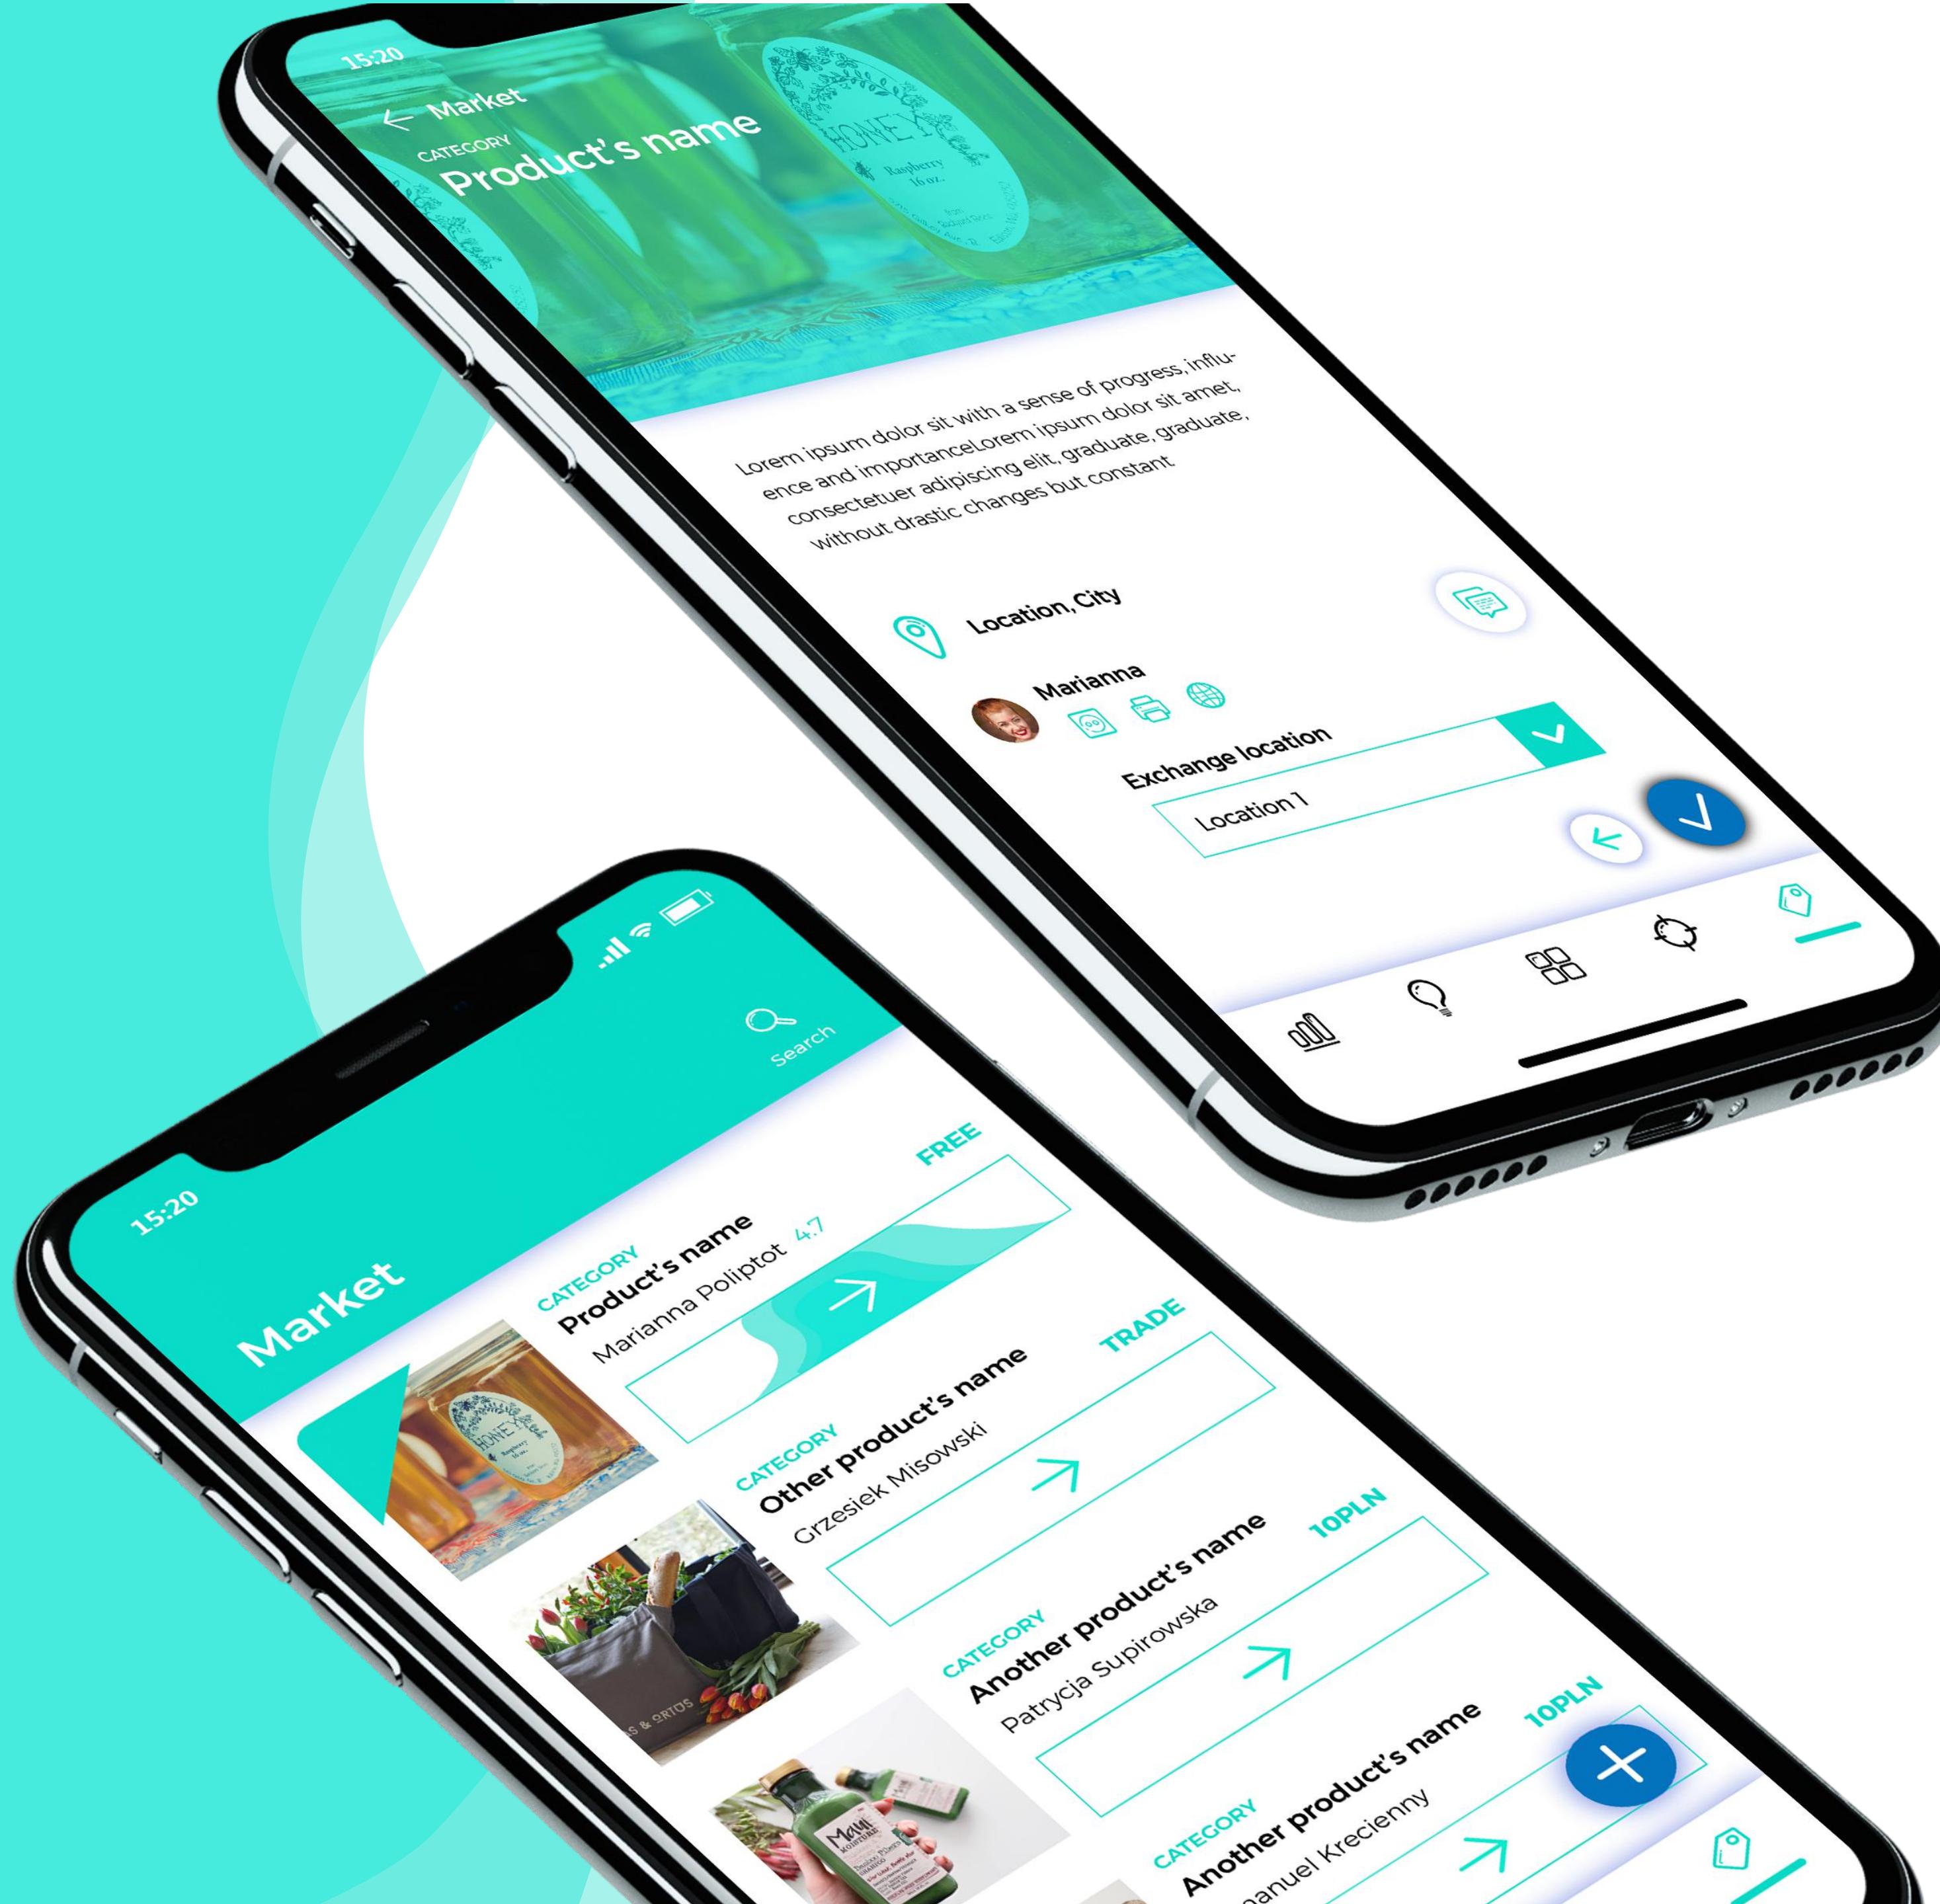

Focus on what's important

Choose which elements you are focusing on the most

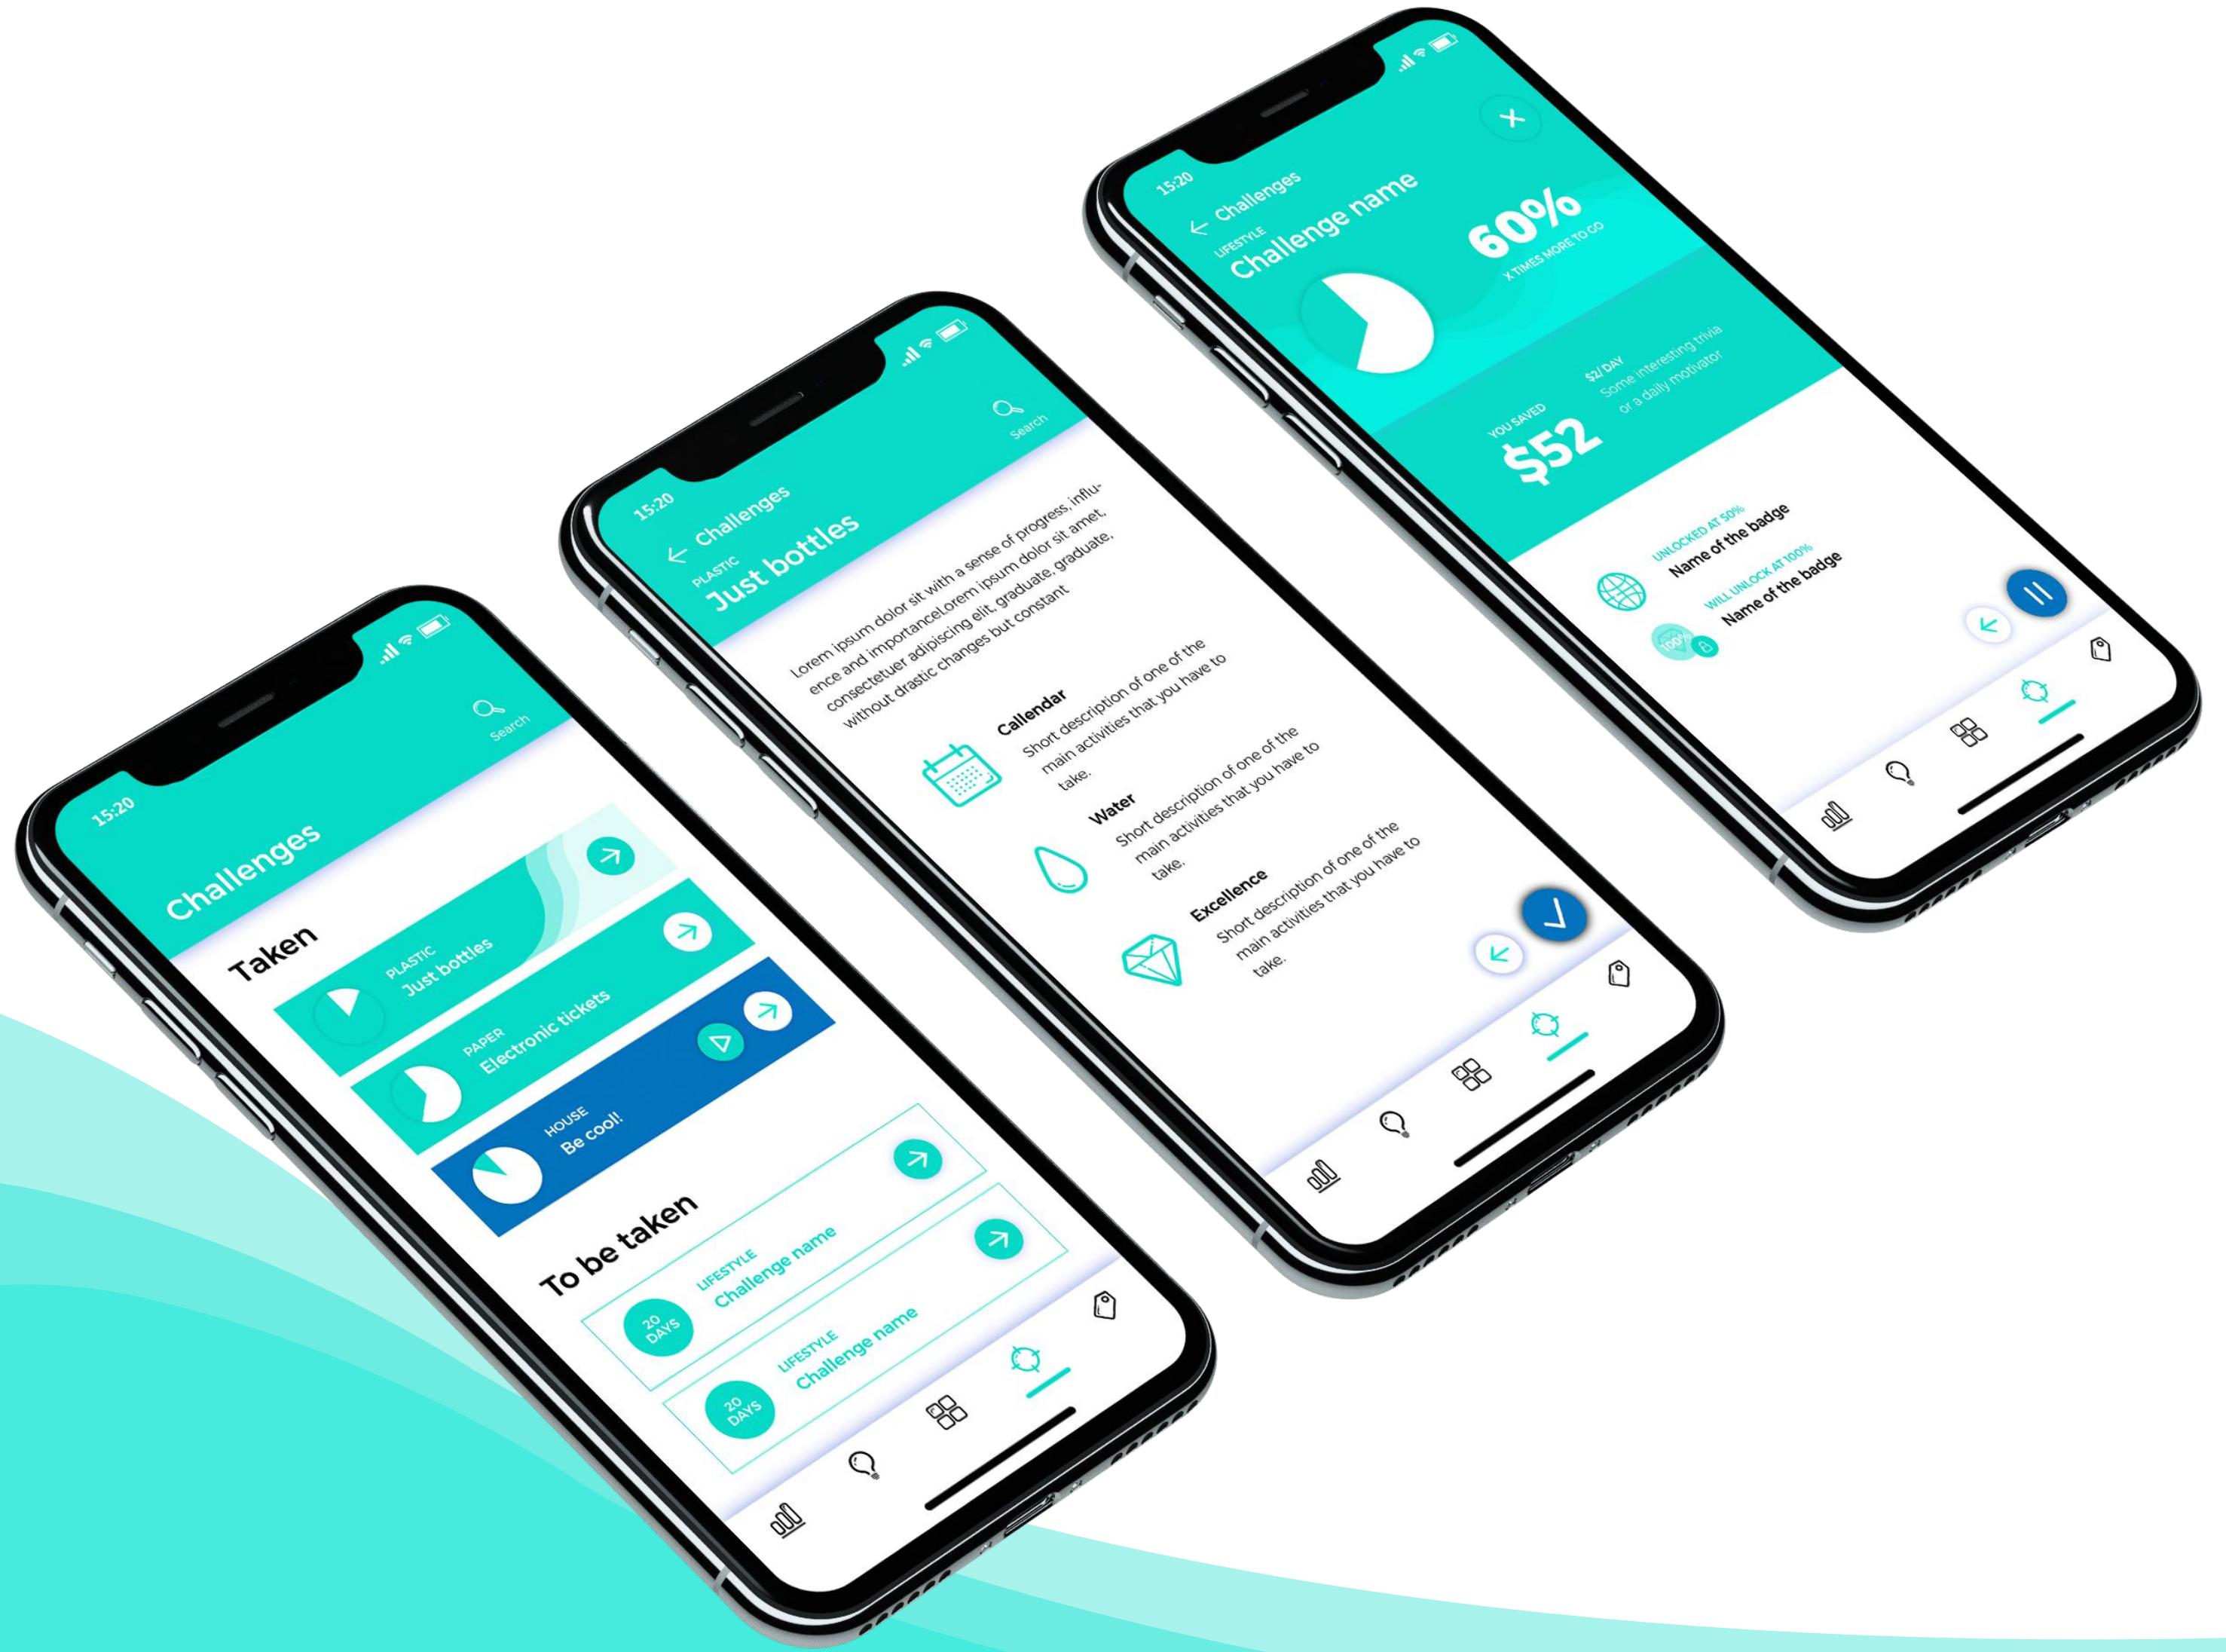

Main screen is customizable. Pick the most important summaries and links to favourites sellers on marketplace. Everyone is different, and the main screen lets you be yourself when adjusting to zero waste lifestyle.

Be a part of the community

Find and participate in a mindful local society

Market feature lets you find local product providers and engage with them in the spirit of zero waste. We encourage transparency by giving out badges and achievements to sellers.

Challenge yourself

Strive for attainable
results day by day

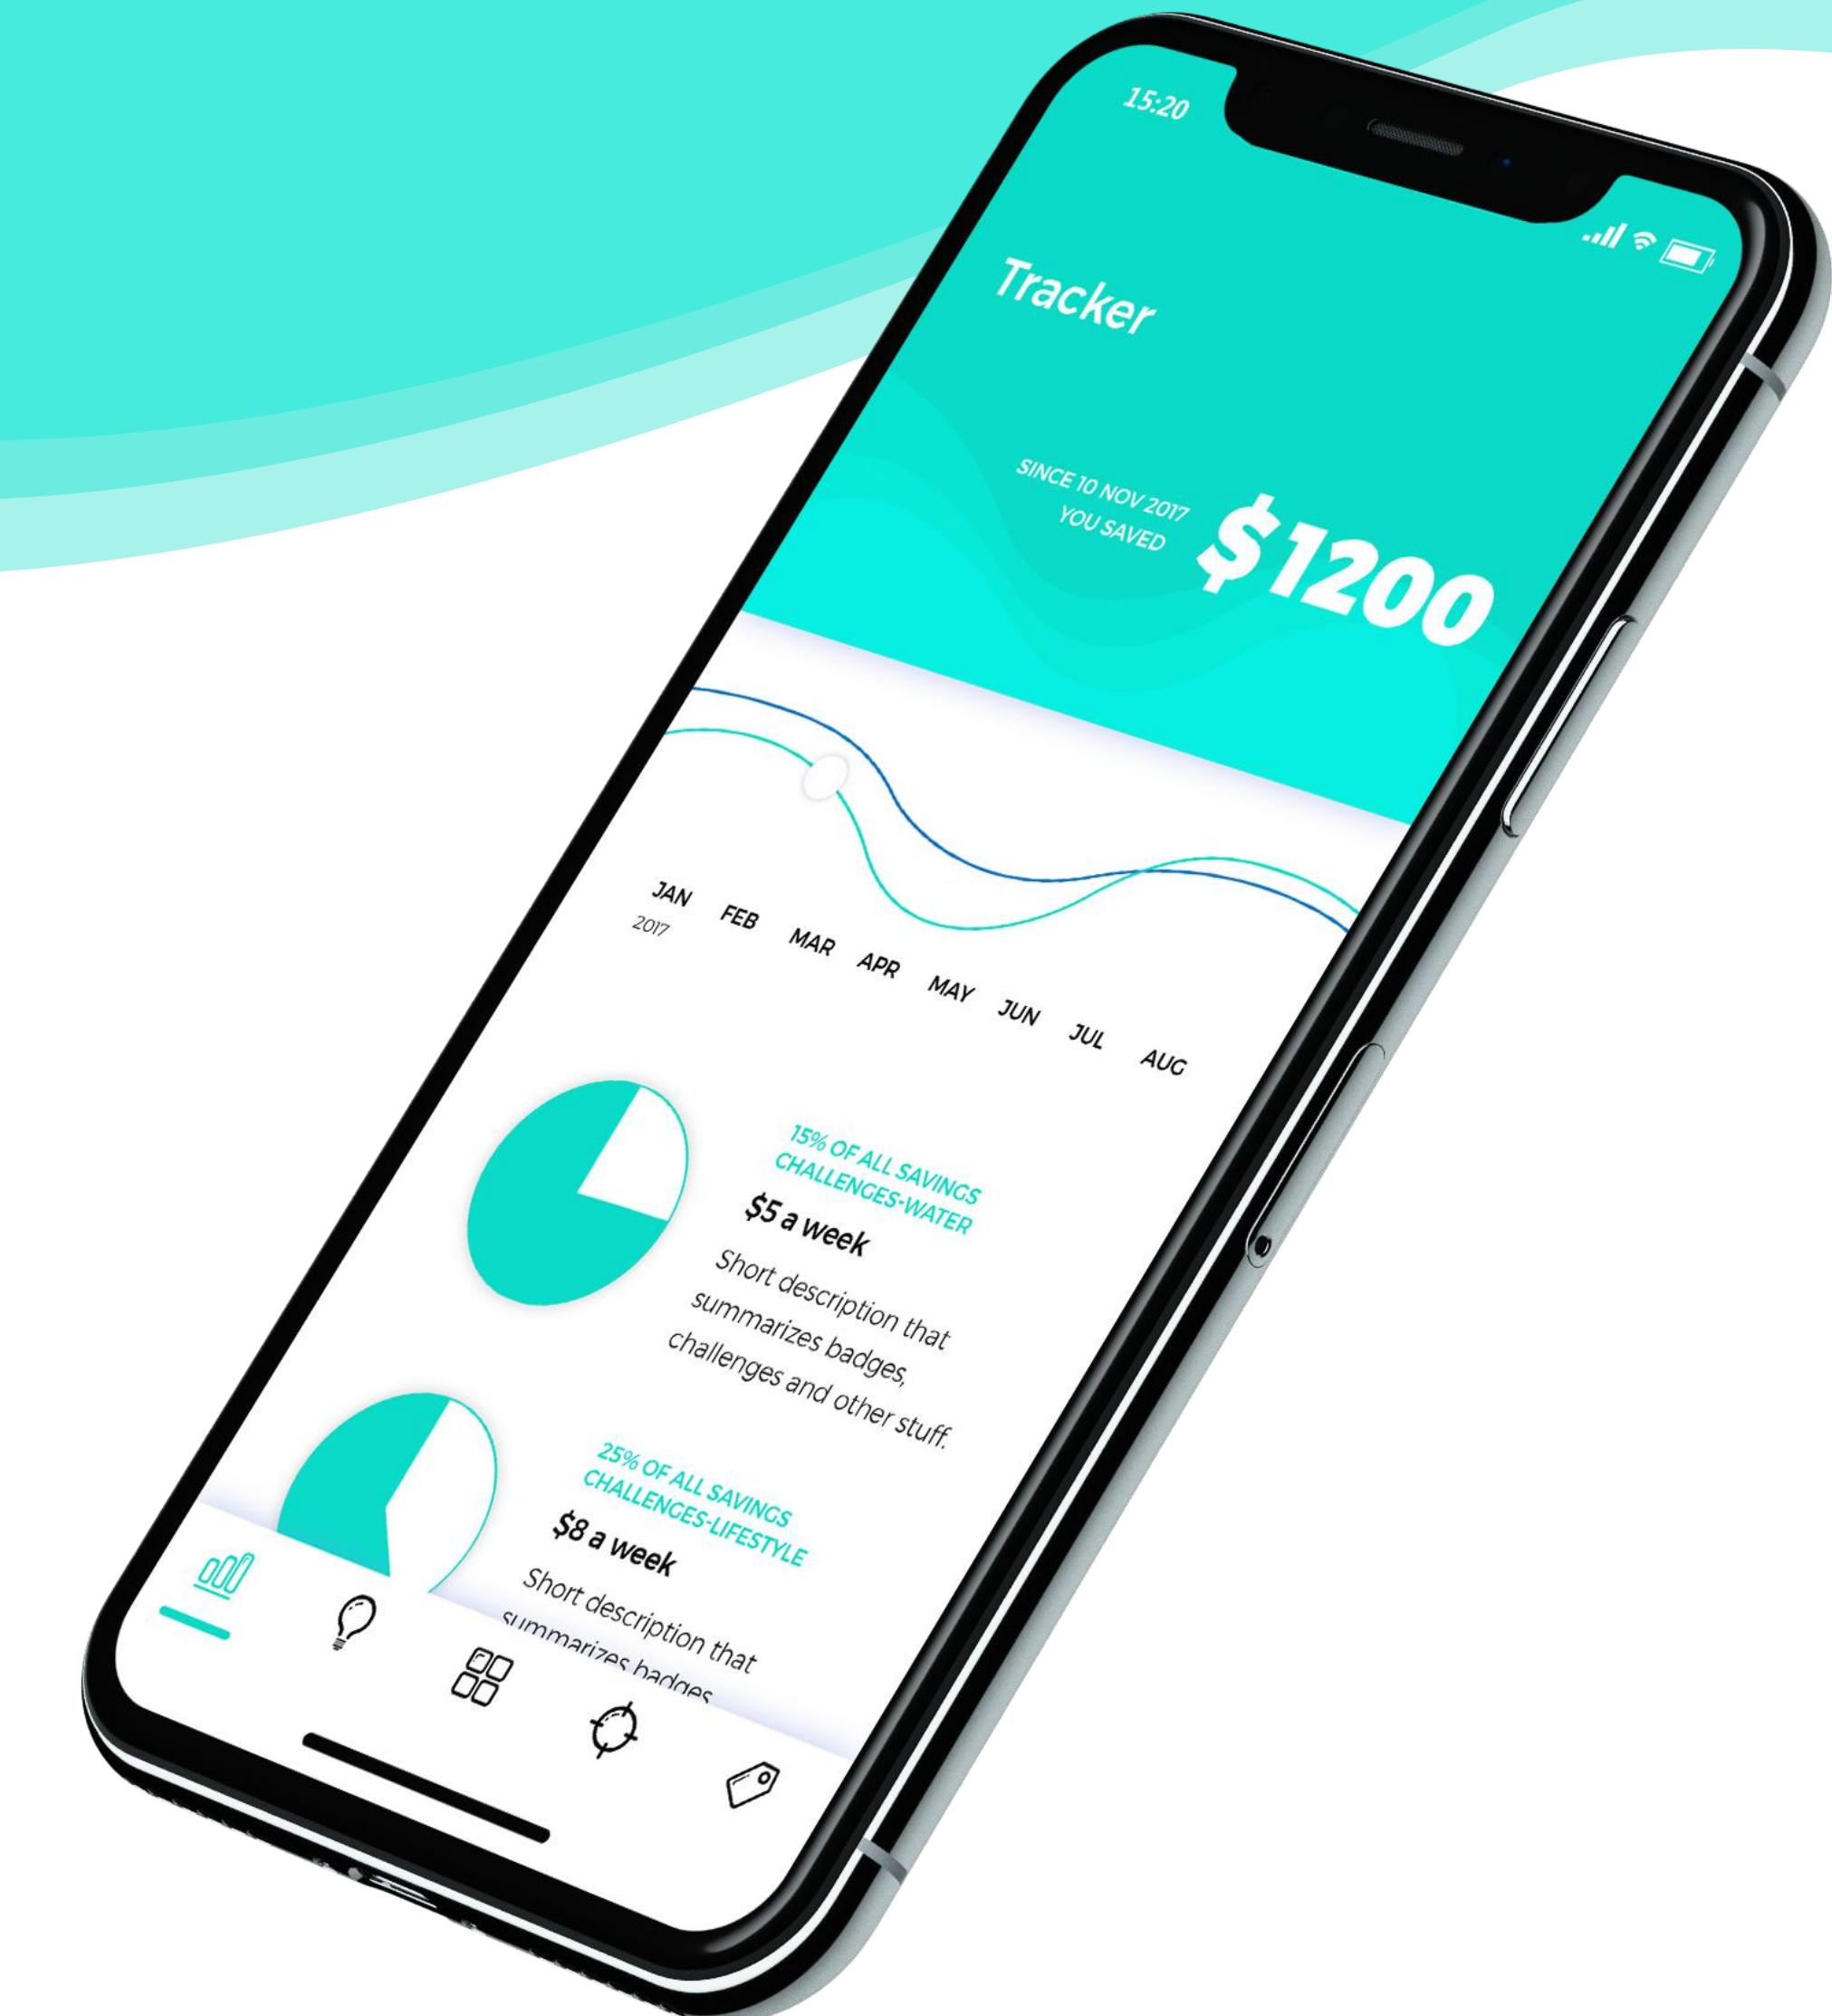

The system of challenges makes it easier to track progress. If building healthy habits is not enough motivation, badges have your back. We know that it's hard to stay on top of new resolutions, so you can pause a challenge and come back to it later.

Track your progress

The economic reason behind going zero waste

Tracker takes into consideration challenges you take part in and calculates your savings. You have insight in a history of your progress.

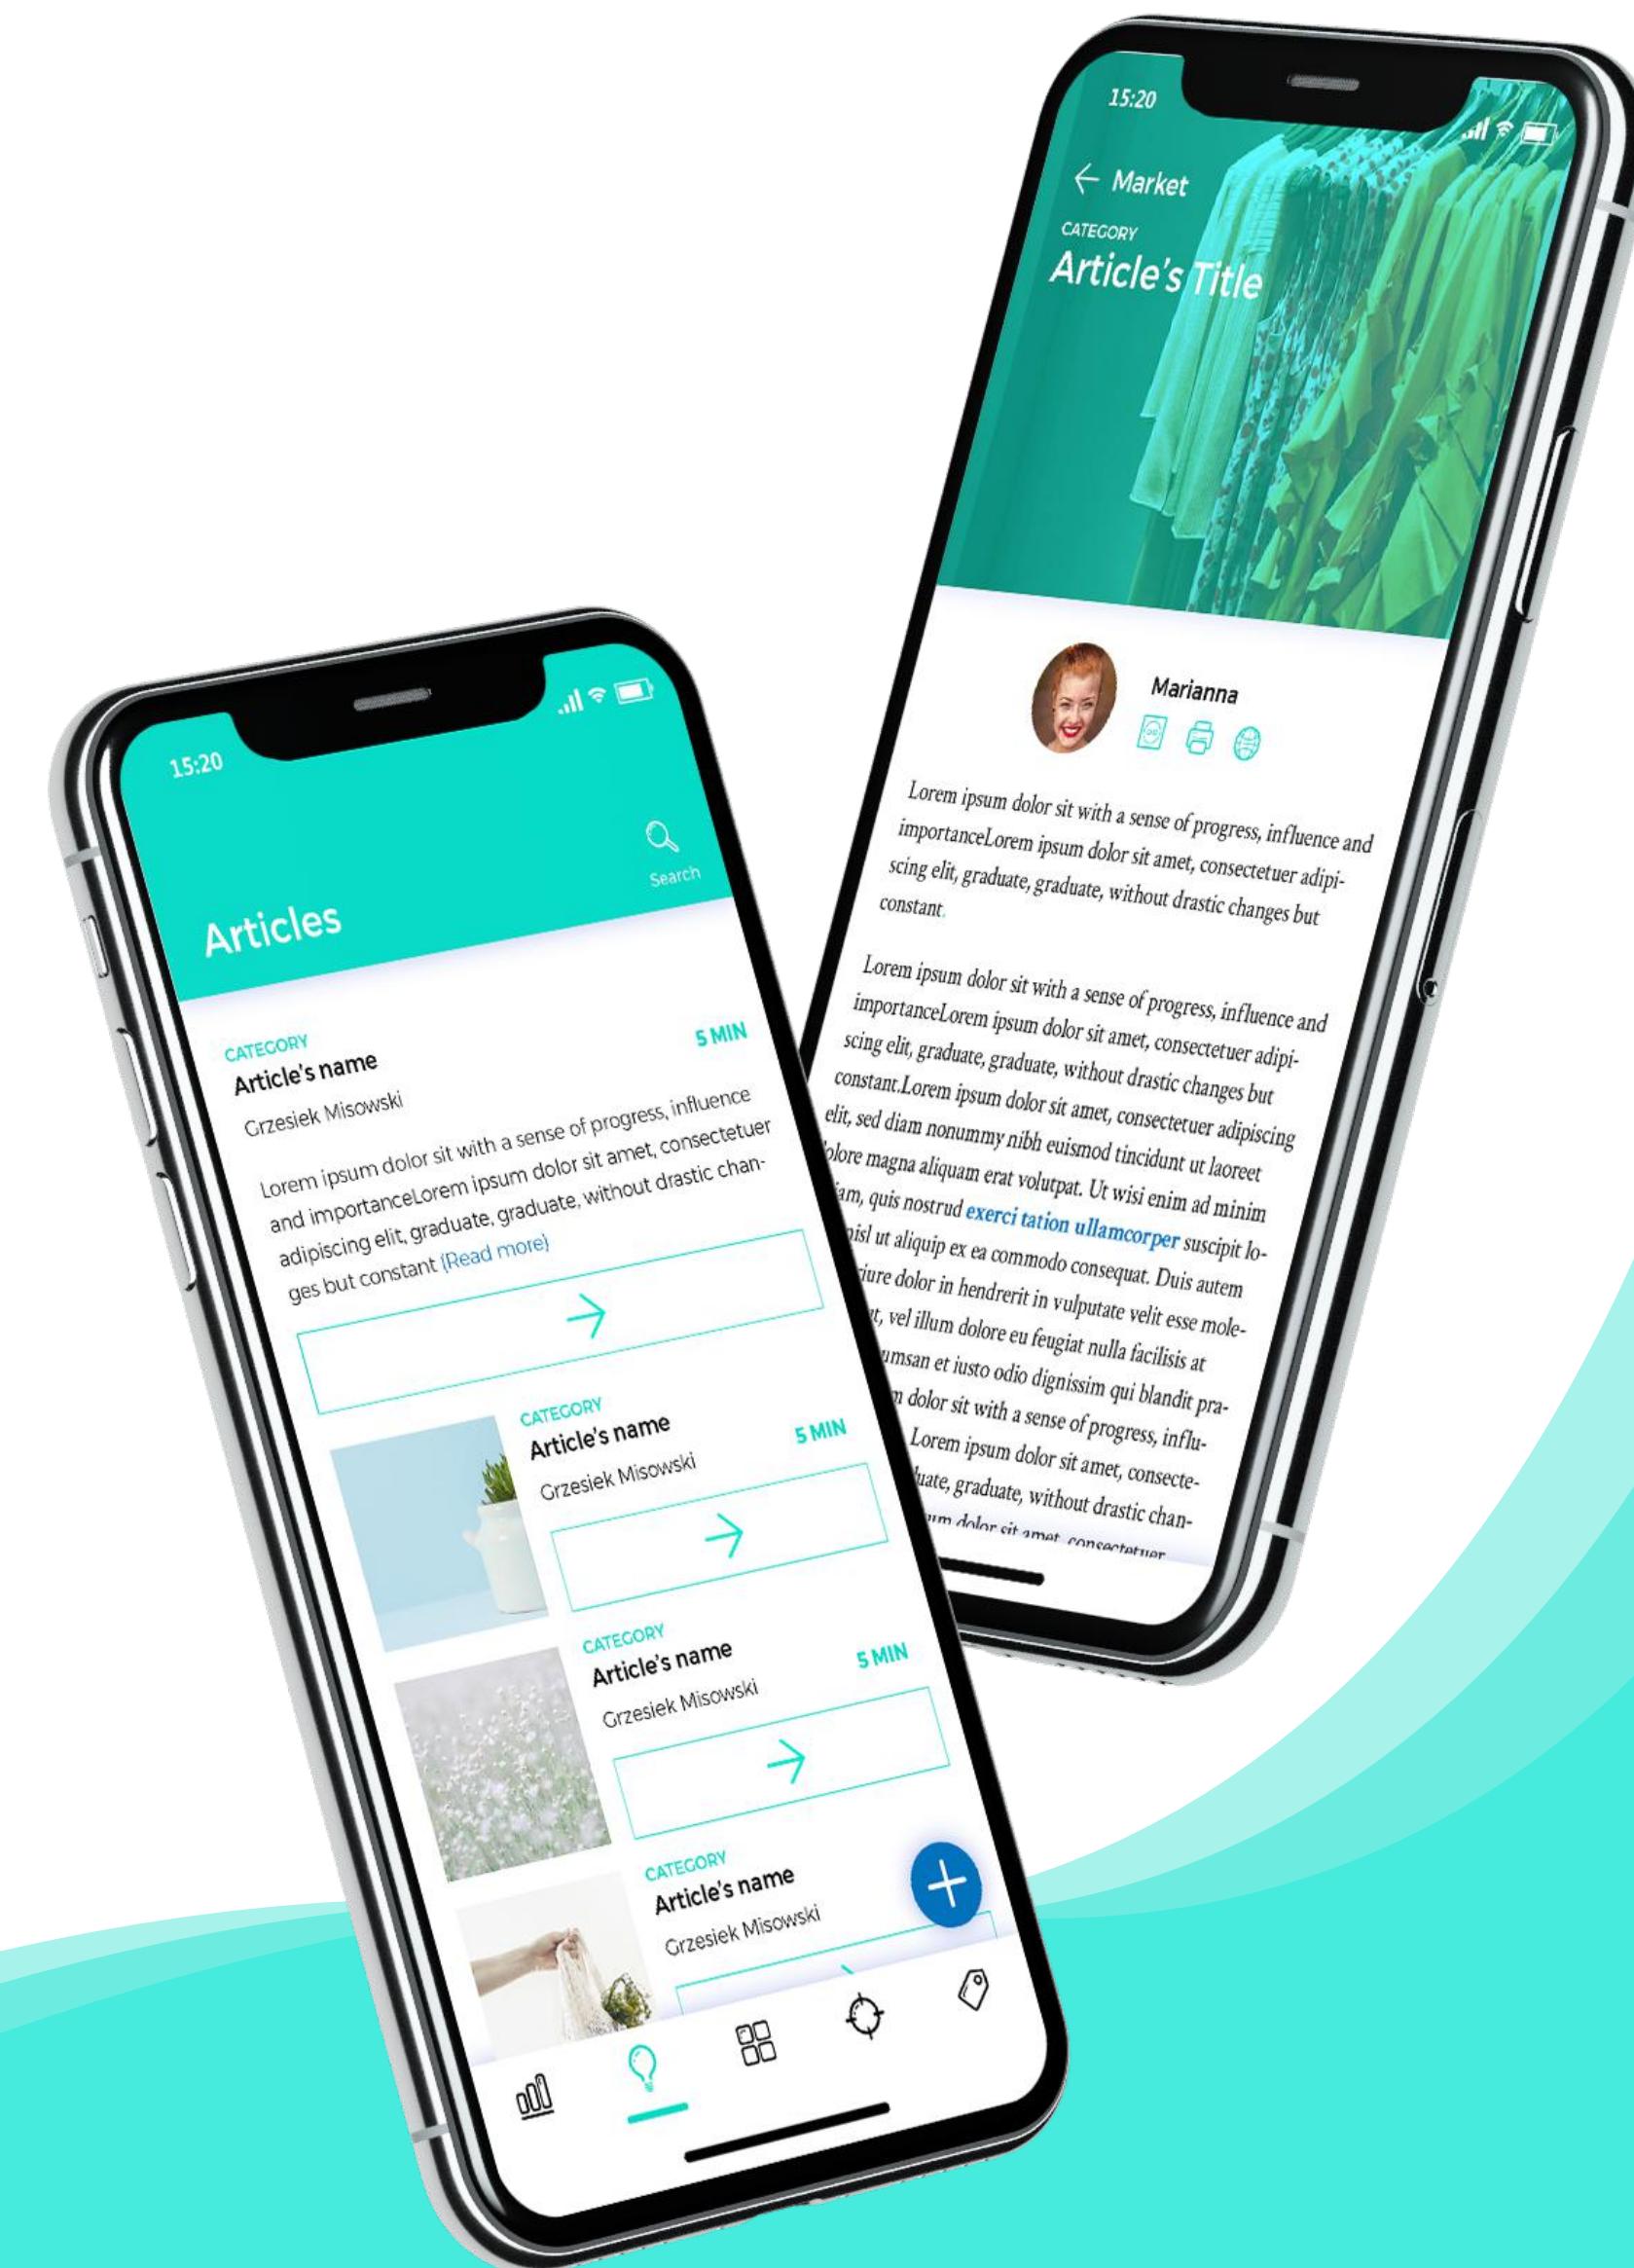

Discover new tricks and tips

Secrets that the community wants to share

Articles and short videos are the backbone of engagement. Find out interesting ideas, try out new ways to go zero waste and show your own tricks. By following other creators you stay up to date with all new hot tips.

Interested in making it happen?
Contact me!

martyna@rewaste.co